

ENGLISH WREST SEVERAL MINOR POINTS FROM GERMANS BY COUNTER ATTACKING

GREEKS AND BRITISH SUCCESSFUL IN EAST

British counter attacks have wrested from the enemy several of the important positions reported taken by the Germans on Monday and Tuesday.

"In the vicinity of Wytschaete yesterday evening we successfully counter attacked," Haig's official statement stated today. "In Metern the situation also was restored. The village is ours. South of Arras opposite Boyelles our line was completely restored (Boyelles is seven miles south of Arras)."

"South of the Somme hostile artillery fire increased considerably this morning. At Bailloul a battalion of German infantry in close formation was caught under our fire at close range and suffered heavy casualties. We also took a few prisoners. The enemy endeavored to develop an attack west of Robecq yesterday afternoon after a bombardment but the advance was broken up. Repeated hostile attacks north of Bailloul yesterday afternoon and evening were repulsed with loss to the enemy. Advance enemy forces were caught under our fire east of Ypres yesterday afternoon at our old positions and were destroyed."

East of Ypres in consequence of the enemy's progress along Bailloul, British troops holding forward positions were withdrawn to a new line deliberately and without interference from the enemy. The restoration of Metern from where it was thought the enemy expected to drive west against Hazebrouck may indicate a brilliant recovery for the British. Its restoration may mean that the German line has been dangerously thinned to prevent the continuation of the offensive toward Ypres.

While the Germans developed the air offensive in the direction of Ypres on the western front today, Greek and British troops were reported to have scored a brilliant success in the initial steps of a first offensive on the Macedonian front. The Greeks crossed the Epirus river and occupied more than one-half score of villages to the north of Lachtalines where the crossing was made. The British occupied Kumli and Armanli. Dispatches reporting the new movement of allied troops made no mention of any fighting between Turkey and Bulgarian forces but it was thought likely that the allied commanders were in possession of some information to be used to relieve the situation.

By William Philip Simms
With the British Armies in the Field, April 17—Von Arruin and Von Quast, continuing their drive toward Hazebrouck are suffering heavy losses. Apparently the only enemy gains in the past 24 hours has been at Wytschaete which was occupied during a blinding mist at dusk last night. British troops are reported as pushing against the line which probably will be retained.

THE FRENCH REPORT

Paris, April 17—Successful French raids at Butch-Bu-Mefnit and Khur where American artillery is stationed and at Flirey on the Toul sector were reported by the French war office today. There was the usual commending on the Somme. Along the right bank of the Meuse six miles north of Verdun, an enemy attack failed.

BULLETIN

By William Philip Simms
With the British Forces in the Field, April 17—South of Ypres an attempted enemy advance was shot down at short range. In retreating, both enemy tanks were caught by the full force of the British artillery and machine guns. The famous Virgin from the church tower has been destroyed. The figure has been in history since 1914 when the city was shelled by the Germans. There was a wide spread superstition that when the Virgin holding the figure of the infant Jesus fell peace would be declared.

From an elevation near Bailloul I watched the battle swirl throughout the afternoon. The area west was constantly pounded by high velocity shells while vapors drifted across the fields. Northeast of Bailloul near Baccanture von Bernard's division attacked heavily at three o'clock in the afternoon. The British guns made great holes in their ranks. All night long the British lines seemed intact while the fighting fields were covered with dead.

"PUTTING A BRICK IN HIS GLOVE"

SAFETY COMMITTEE TO DEAL HARSHLY WITH SEDITION

The Clearfield County Committee of Public Safety held a well attended meeting last evening at which the agricultural situation was one of the principal topics of discussion. Resolutions were passed assuring the farmers of the county that everything possible would be done by the Public Safety committee to furnish them with additional labor during the planting and harvesting season.

The question of roofing out pro-Germans and the local fat headed dampfools who seem to think it is smart to hobnob together in little sedition-spreading groups and not only rejoice over any success the Kaiser's murderers may attain but pool pooh and belittle every movement of their government in the prosecution of the war. Forbearance has about ceased to be a virtue in this regard and the Public Safety committee is going to see that an end is made to the insidious campaign in this county.

Old men in their dotage are entitled to a fair measure of respect but when in their garrulity and imbecility they give aid and comfort to the enemy and interfere as far as possible with the morale of our people by their knocking and belittling of our government and our allies, it is time they are brought to their senses with a round turn, and that is what the committee propose doing henceforth.

He who is not with us is against, and hereafter he must take his place and suffer the consequences and shut up or be locked up. With the boys over there facing the murderous Hun, we cannot allow any shooting in the back even though it be shooting off the mouth. There is no room in this county for any but true Americans and the community has the right to and will define that term and exact absolute compliance with that definition.

The Public Safety committee desires to have reports on all pro-German utterances, and the names of all who refuse to purchase Liberty Bonds. It is the duty of all loyal Americans to furnish any such information they may possess.

This is a serious matter and deserves the most drastic action.

LITTLE TOT HAS NARROW ESCAPE

The little baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Littman was struck and knocked down by the R. C. Shaw Grocery company's delivery truck just a few minutes before 12 o'clock today.

The accident occurred on Second street in front of Mr. Littman's store. The child and an older brother had been playing on the sidewalk and when the boy darted across the street the baby, eighteen months old, toddled out after him. The delivery truck which was being driven by Emory Shaw was coming down street slowed up to let the first child pass and never saw the baby until she stepped from behind a car parked along the curb, almost in front of him. He swerved the machine but was too close to avoid a collision. The fender struck the little one and knocked her down. Mr. Shaw stopped instantly and picking the little tot up took her to Dr. Gordon's office where an examination disclosed the fact that aside from a minor bruise or two she was unharmed.

PORKLESS MEAL FOR DEMOCRATS

Washington, April 17—The House today passed a "Porkless" river and harbor appropriation bill carrying $20,000,000. It contained no projects except those specifically recommended by the war department or those considered necessary to the war. Only two new projects were carried in the bill.

DRAFT BOARD TO SEND FIFTEEN TO KENTUCKY

In Addition To Those Going To Camp Lee Others Will Go To Fort Thomas May 1st

LIST OF THOSE WHO WILL GO

The war department has issued a call for 1970 men from the territory contributory to Camp Lee to be entrained during the five day period beginning May 1st to be sent to Fort Thomas, Kentucky.

The local exemption board were notified this morning that the quota for this district was 15 men. District No. 2 will be required to send 10 and District No. 3 must provide 16. In filling these calls men will be inducted out of Class one in sequence of order numbers, except that the provisions relating to men actively, completely and assiduously engaged in the planting and cultivation of crops should be followed.

The number of men called for under the above calls must be actually entrained and men furnished under these calls will be credited against the next next quota from the districts. This call is in addition to the previous one for Camp Lee, which requires District No. 1 to send twenty men within five days of April 26.

The men for these two calls will be selected from the following list, the first twenty to go to Camp Lee and the remaining fifteen for Camp Thomas to be chosen from the remainder in the order they appear here with:

MORE TROUBLE FOR EMPEROR CHARLES

By United Press
Copenhagen, April 17—Hungarian Premier Wekerle and his cabinet will resign, according to reports received here today. Prince Von Hohenlohe, Emperor Charles' chief of court, has been dismissed, the report stated and has been succeeded by Count Alexander Esterhazy, brother in law of Count Receptera.

SPOILATION OF ALSACE LORRAINE CONTINUED BY TEUTON INVADER

By Henry Wood
(United Press Correspondent)

With The French Armies, March 11. (By Mail.)—Germany's latest spoliation of Alsace-Lorraine consists of the carrying away from the latter of all the old antiques and objects of art on which the two provinces for centuries past have been unusually rich.

The exodus of all these objects, many of priceless historic and artistic worth, across the borders of the two provinces and over into the big German cities would appear to constitute Germany's final effort to squeeze out of Alsace and Lorraine the last thing of value while she still has it within her power to do so.

During the Seventeenth Century Alsace and Lorraine became very much a center for various lines of art and especially for the making of the various styles of furniture which have since won for themselves fixed places in the history and development of artistic furnishings. Because Alsace and Lorraine was the center of the various trades, art crafts, and manufacturers that were employed in the production of these historic styles of furniture, thousands of the best pieces remained in the two provinces where they became heirlooms in the native families.

It is largely this class of art objects that the Germans are now searching out and carrying off to Berlin, Munich and other German centers. Owing to the fact that the German authorities are now forcing the liquidation and sale of all homes and other properties owned by French citizens and often of Alsacians guilty only of French sympathies, thousands of these old pieces of furniture are being thrown onto the market in a manner that enables the German antiquarians to buy them at nominal figures. In other instances, the antiquarians search out families that have been impoverished by the war and income them to part for a little ready money with objects of the greatest artistic value.

This exploitation of the two provinces by German antiquity dealers appears to have reached such a proportion that even the German press, notably the "Kleine Press" of Frankfurt have printed articles pointing out the iniquitous practice. The "Hagenauer Zeitung" also details the scandal in the following manner:

"The lovers of the art objects and antiquities of Alsace are becoming alarmed over the fate of all the beautiful and precious art treasures which are now actually leaving the country. From all parts of the German Empire antiquarians are now arriving, gaining possession of hidden treasures from the very bottom of the two frontier provinces for the purpose of reselling them at fabulous prices to their clients at Berlin, Munich and elsewhere."

"The hour is propitious for purposes. Numerous auctioneers and foreclosures offer favorable occasions for the acquisition of objects of real style. Many small middle class families of the villages need of money and without too much insistence will give up a bureau of the Louis Sixteenth style which has come down to them from a great mother and which is finished in styles of brass engraved by hand. With the money which they receive they can procure other articles less indispensable."

"In the seventeenth century the crafts were very flourishing in Alsace. The house furnishing which one encountered even in the smallest, most far-away villages were elegant and solid. The styles which bore the names of the kings of France, which, in the villages, were of delicate workmanship, acquired in the country districts a character entirely original, rustic. It is to be regretted that the antiquarians are now seeking out the little Alsacian houses and find little difficulty by paying the country people in actual currency, acquiring the old family treasures, which the majority no longer run, and the chairs with their magnificent backs worn by age."

"The liquidation of objects of this sort has increased immensely during the year that has just finished. The real buyers of them are to be found in the large cities. For the most part they are the 'new rich' who have made their fortunes from the war and who from one day to the other find themselves transported from the country to the top of German society and seek by all means to surround themselves with objects of ancient art."

CHARLEY SCHWAB WILL BUILD SHIPS

Washington, April 16.—Charles Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, was this afternoon named by President Wilson as general of the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

In that capacity he will have complete charge of the construction of the American merchant marine. He lay in the ship building program led to the call upon Mr. Schwab for the huge task.

The following official statement was issued at the White House: "Edward N. Hurley, Charles M. Schwab, Bainbridge Colby and Charles Piez were received by the president at the White House today. It was stated that the subject discussed was the progress and condition of the national shipbuilding program. The carrying forward of the construction work in the 110 shipyards now in operation is so vast that it requires a reinforcement of the shipbuilding organization throughout the country."

Schwab Answers Nation's Call

"Later in the day Chairman Hurley, of the shipping board, announced that a new office with wide powers had been created by the trustees of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. The new position is that of director general, and Mr. Schwab has been asked to accept this position in answer to the call of the nation."

"Charles Piez, vice president of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, recommended that the post of general manager of the corporation be at once abolished so that Mr. Schwab, as director general, should be wholly un-hampered in carrying out the large task intrusted to him. Mr. Piez, since the retirement of Admiral Harris, has been filling both the position of vice president and that of general manager."

"Mr. Schwab will have complete supervision and direction of the work of shipbuilding."

"He agreed to take up the work at the sacrifice of his present wishes in the matter. His services were virtually commandeered. His great experience as a steel maker and builder of ships has been drafted for the nation."

New York, April 16.—The United States Marines have enlisted the services of Ben Franklin to aid in their recruiting campaign here.

The occasion warranted ceremonies. Soldiers of the Sea from the Navy Yard and a band paraded. Mayor Hyman spoke.

The Marines did not doubt the famous patriot would help their Corps. He was alive. So without hesitating they established a recruiting tent in front of the Franklin statue at Nassau street and Park row.

PASHA PAYS PENALTY

France can give us pointers on the handling of disloyal citizens and traitors. Bolo Pasha was only recently convicted of treason by the French Federal Government and yesterday he paid the death penalty for his nefarious meddling. Had Bolo Pasha been tried in the United States his deserved punishment would have been delayed. Perhaps he would have gotten off as easily as the Philadelphia German editors.

A WARNING

The unbridled tongues of foolish and disloyal citizens can easily change our land into a field of carnage and riot. The false rumors and malicious stories constantly being circulated discrediting our high officials, the Red Cross, the care and conduct of our troops, the condition of cantonments, etc., is enemy propaganda, intended to create distrust and discontent among our soldiers and our people, and also discourage those working for our government.

These stories are accepted as news and unfortunately are being given the widest circulation by patriotic citizens who do not think they are aiding our enemies.

Every loyal citizen should assist in stopping these malignant stories.

DESERVES CONSIDERATION

General Clements of Sunbury who was recently dropped from the army payrolls because of physical disability is now a candidate for Congress at Large and his many friends throughout the state are very active in his behalf. There are four Congressmen at Large to be elected and Republicans should make sure that General Clements is one of them. He possesses fine qualifications, having been in France since we entered the war and having been identified with the military arm of our government ever since the organization of the National Guard. He will make a good war time congressman. There is no reason why he should not be a good soldier now if put in some executive position by a civilian "swivel chair" officer but the army will not fill otherwise. General Clements deserves better consideration at the hands of the Republican party than he received recently.

SAMUEL GOMPERS AND HIS WORK FOR LOYALTY AND DEMOCRACY

When the biography of Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, comes to be written, the much credit cannot be given to him for the work he has been doing through the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy. This publicity organization issues a weekly syndicate service to the labor papers of the country and through this service many labor leaders have been able to express in their own way their loyalty to the country. In a recent issue, William P. Clarke, President of the American Flint Glass Workers' Union has given expression to sentiments which the whole country will receive gratefully as the voice of loyal labor. Here are epitomized the most striking features of his article:

"Not so long ago it was in some instances regarded as treasonable to the working people for a leader to proclaim that the interests of capital and labor were identical, and there was some justification for that feeling."

"War, like politics, makes strange bed-fellows. Today, we find Democrats, Republicans, and Socialists acting in unison on questions of great moment, and this is as it should be if the privileges that we as a nation have enjoyed are to be preserved and perpetuated for those who are to follow us."

"The Creator who made the material elements of different values, who cre-

RUSSIANS TAKEN AT WOODLAND PROTEST LOYALTY

Sheriff German was called to Woodland last night on complaint of Burgess Breder of Wallacetown regarding the alleged scuttling of three young men discharged from the Wallacetown brick works and who had gone to Woodland in search of employment.

It was stated by Burgess Breder that following their discharge at Wallacetown the men had given utterance to pro-German sentiments.

The Sheriff had no trouble in picking up the men at Woodland, but instead of being Germans they proved to be Russians, one of them having been in this country but about two months. Two of the men were 20 years of age and the other 22. The latter had his registration card and all three expressed themselves as being alright and not pro-German. They said their difficulty at Wallacetown was with the boarding boss who failed to feed them enough. They are being held in the jail pending a hearing.

PROVISIONS OF NEW SEDITION LAW TO BE MOST DRISTIC

Washington, April 16.—Enemies of American war activities are to be classed as spies, tried by a court martial and killed under the provisions of anti sedition bill introduced today.

Every person who attempts to interfere in any way with the movement of troops or the operation of military or naval forces and persons who openly espouse the cause of Germany and publish false statements, will be punishable with death. Acts of sabotage or the wilful destruction of war material are also included within the scope of the proposed law.

Miss Ruth Richardson, of Pittsburgh, is visiting her friend Mrs. R. C. Shaffer of Fourth street.

ated flowers of various sweetness, and birds of diverse plumage, made men of different moulds and destined for different work in this busy world.

"The architect may plan, the manager may direct, the man may shine, and the land may be fertile, but the hand and brain of the laborer must respond before results desired shall be attained."

"First, there must be co-operation; secondly, co-operation must be secured without lowering the standards of labor, and without annulling the laws that have been placed on the statute books of States and Nation for the benefit of the working people; thirdly, we must see that undue profits are not made from the sacrifice of humanity by the profiteers of our time."

"While the workers seek justice, so must they be willing to accord justice to the manufacturers in order that there will be a fair return for the capital invested and energy expended; for any other course is wrong and a wrong cannot long endure."

"Strange ideas, hopes and aspirations will arise in the breasts of men. Sometimes we get our minds set on a certain problem and we cannot recognize or appreciate the position of others; but frequently this is due to the fact that we have undertaken to deny others the right to give vent to their feelings. This is wrong."

"If fairness enforces the heart of men and they come together and take into consideration, first, the interests of our government and our people, and then the perpetuation of liberty, I feel that the disputes that arise between us can be well disposed of without any serious interruption to the industries of our country, and co-operation will be a fact and not a theory."

"Any other course would mean that we are slacking on our brothers at the front."

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath and quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

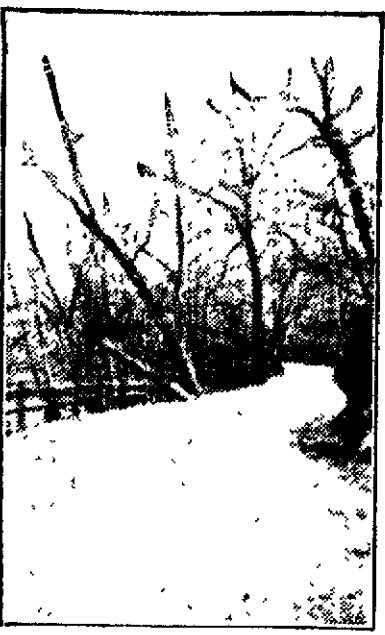

GOOD ROADS

FAME FROM ITS GOOD ROADS

Improved Streets, Smooth and Dustless Highways Around Philadelphia Advertisers City.

Good streets and smooth, dustless country roads, have been a means of advertising and giving added importance to Philadelphia, not only throughout the United States and Canada, but abroad, according to William H. Connel, chief of the bureau of highways, Philadelphia Inquirer states.

Highway experts from scores of American and European cities, as well as engineers representing practically every state in this country, have studied the progress made by Philadelphia in dealing with one of the greatest of municipal problems, that of road construction and maintenance, and have requested information regarding the specifications used, the processes followed and other data pertaining to the work as carried on in this city, Chief Connel said.

Within the limits of the city, motorists, most critical of road users, can travel for more than 150 miles by diverse routes, without experiencing the slightest difficulty because of poor roads or dusty ones. The head of the highway bureau asserted. Visiting tourists, impressed by this fact, have heralded the reputation of Philadelphia as the city of good roads throughout the country, he said. The improvement, in many instances, has been made at comparatively little expense by means of surface treatments, varied to meet the demands of the occasion, he pointed out.

GROWTH OF IMPROVED ROADS

Inventions, Discoveries and Public Improvements Come When There is Strong Demand.

The history of good roads affords a striking example of the fact that inventions, discoveries and public improvements take place only when there is an insistent demand for them. In early times, when each family lived largely to itself, there was little commerce in the articles produced on the farm and consequently little need for transportation. As large cities developed the demand for roads on which products might be easily transported grew.

Two of the most recent causes for the improvement of roads have been pleasure vehicles. Twenty-five years ago the bicycle began to come into common use and the cyclists made a vigorous demand for roads on which they might ride. Unfortunately, however, paths for bicycles were constructed in many places in lieu of improved roads. The invention of the automobile, however, has meant a real step toward better roads.

GET GOOD HIGHWAY SYSTEM

Not Difficult Problem if County or Township is Willing to Use Common Sense.

How to get a good road system is not a difficult problem, if a county or township is willing to be guided by common sense. The first step is to employ a competent highway engineer. He will make a study of traffic conditions, ascertain where the main market lines with a type of surfacing material that will be less expensive than that required on the main market lines, and yet will at the same time meet all traffic requirements on the feeder lines. The main lines, if built of concrete, will be permanent and cost less to maintain.

How to Place Culvert. Where a culvert is placed in a road on a hillside to take care of the drainage collected in an uphill ditch, it should be placed across the road pointing in the direction of the flow of the steepest grade.

Changing Milk for Calf. The time to change the calf from when milk to plain milk depends upon the development of the calf. If it is to be used for milk it should be changed to skim milk at the end of the second week, but the milk would be better.

SUCCESSFUL WAR WORK OF INDIANAPOLIS GIRLS

The First Presbyterian church of Indianapolis, Ind., is enrolling its young women, 15 years of age and over, in a society to look after the needs of the 63 boys of the church who are in military service. This society was organized as a young women's subcommittee to its general war-service committee. The boys are kept in constant touch with home interests and are frequently sent gifts, thus proving to them that their efforts in this great struggle are being appreciated.

Ten cents is contributed by each member monthly, as dues. There is now a sufficient surplus in the society's treasury to "adopt" a French orphan.

District Attorney Arnold made a clean-up of the vault in his office this morning and as a result the drug store at the Clearfield hospital is very much the richer or poorer, the degree depending entirely upon your opinion of the wet and dry proposition.

But in any event Fred Dem's dray was given the job of hauling a case of beer, six or eight quart bottles and about twenty-five pints of good red likker confiscated as evidence by ex-District Attorney Welch and District Attorney Arnold, following the last two license fights of the Clearfield county Dry Federation.

A squad of regulars sorrowfully witnessed the departure of the booze from the court house and it was noticed that tears would unbidden start down several red noses from time to time as parched tongues licked dry as dusty lips.

Deputy Sheriff Joe McCann guarded the spoils while the loading was in progress and under his watchful eye the drayman was able to get away without the loss of a single pint.

Following receipt of the liquids at the hospital there was an epidemic of cramps in the men's ward, the word having reached there regarding the wet goods.

The Pre-eminent One

By REV. B. B. SUTCLIFFE
Extension Department, Moody Bible
Institute, Chicago

TEXT—That in all things he might have
the pre-eminence.—Col. 1:18

This is the fundamental truth which underlies all of God's revelation to
man. What God
has done, is doing
and will yet do, is
done with this primary object in view, viz., that in all things Christ
might have the
pre-eminence.

The Object of the Father's Councils.
We are dangerously near the time when we place man before
God as the object
of his councils.
But before ever
time began it was
Christ who was daily God's delight

(Prov. 8:30). And all during time he is still the pre-eminent one, for it has pleased the Father that in Christ
should all fullness dwell (Col. 1:19).
Not man but Christ has been made heir
of all things (Heb. 1:2). After time will be passed this will still be true, as
is stated in Eph. 1:10, "that in the dispensation of the fullness of times he
will gather together in one all things
in Christ, both which are in heaven and which are on earth." The error of humanitarianism rises out of a denial of this truth and the consequent
attempt to put men in Christ's place.

Humanitarianism is nothing more than
the exaltation of man, leading to his deification and the enthronement of the human above the divine. Mankind
can come into the purposed blessing
from God only as Christ is given his proper place—that of being the preeminent object of God's councils. And what is true of the human race is true
of the individual. That life is blessed in the measure in which Christ is preeminent therein.

As the Object of the Scriptures.
The object of the Scriptures is not to give the world a history, although the only absolutely true history in the world is found there. Neither is the Scripture a scientific book, although wherever the Scripture touches science
it touches it with a true hand and is never unscientific. Neither do the Scriptures set forth a system of philosophy as the object for which they were written, although the deepest philosophy is found there. The pre-eminent object of the Book is Christ. Without him they would never have been written and we read our Bibles to little purpose if we fail to find him upon its pages. He rebukes those of older time
by saying in Jno. 5:39: "Ye search the Scriptures, for in them ye think ye have eternal life and they are they which testify of me." Eternal life is in him and he is in the Scriptures.
They would not receive him of whom
the Scriptures spoke and so missed
the eternal life for which they sought.
Through the books of history, prophecy
and psalms the one radiant object in type and symbol, ceremony and prediction is this pre-eminent one—Christ
Jesus the Lord. He is the only key which will unlock the mysteries and
the only light making plain the dark places.

As the Object of Our Faith.

Our eternal destiny does not rest
on what we do with certain things but
on a certain person. It is not the faith
but the object of the faith that counts.
I may have splendid faith in a poor
bank and lose my money. I may have much faith in a rotten boat and lose
my life. And I may have first-class
faith in some other object than Christ,
such as a good life or charitable deeds,
and lose my soul. If it is salvation I need I am to believe in him and be saved (Acts 16:31). If it is justification
I want I am to believe in him and
be justified from all things (Acts 13:39). Freedom from condemnation, eternal life, sanctification, all that has
to do with my spiritual well-being hangs on my faith in him. No wonder,
then, that we read, "this is the work of God that ye believe on him whom he hath sent" (Jno. 6:29). He is to be the pre-eminent object of my faith.
Will my reader stop and ask from the heart, "Am I really trusting in Christ
alone or is some other object pre-eminent before my faith?" He must do
all for us or he can do nothing for us.
"If ye be circumcised Christ will profit
you nothing" (Gal. 5:2). Adding anything to him and his work makes him to be of no value to us. He is to be the alone Savior, Justifier, Sanctifier.
God will give all things through him,
nothing apart from him.

The error of humanitarianism will come in when any other object than this pre-eminent one is before us. We will be kept from the heaven of the Pharisees when we seek for him alone
in the Scriptures, and the eternal interests of our souls will be safeguarded
and made sure when he is the supreme object of our faith.

Thou O Christ art all I want;
More than all in these I find.
When from our days of feverish
anxious toil we come home at night
too tired to pray, we have doubtless defrauded God of a part of his resources upon which he depended more than upon our direct activity.—N. B.
Best.

To win the war it is unavoidable that the rights of the individual be infringed. It is unavoidable that his personal comfort be temporarily ignored, his personal property tem-

We Must Make Haste We Must Strike Hard

There is no time to weigh too care-equity. The big job, the one job, is to win the war. There will be plenty of time to talk about it and adjust grievances afterward.

All arguments aside, we've got one big job on at the moment—to

ENGLISH WAR WORKERS TIRELESS

Hamilton Bell, writing of "British women in the war" has this to say of the way English women have supported war industries: "Their numbers have not been reckoned and perhaps never will be. The call goes forth and they respond at the rate of 15,000 a week, old as well as young. As was said of them by the superintendent of one of the largest munition factories: 'They're saving the country! They don't mind what they do. Hours? They work 10 1-2, or, with overtime, 12 hours a day, 7 days a week. The government insists on a Sunday or two off a month. But the women resent it. 'We're not tired,' they said. And look at them—they are not tired. I call for a bit of extra work—they stay and get it done, and pour out of the works singing and laughing.
In one factory near here, for nearly a year the women have never had a holiday. They won't take one. What will our men at the front do if we go holiday-making?'"

JUMP FROM BED IN MORNING AND DRINK HOT WATER

Open sluices of system each morning and
wash away the poisonous, stagnant
matter, says authority.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank each morning before breakfast, keeps
us looking and feeling fit.

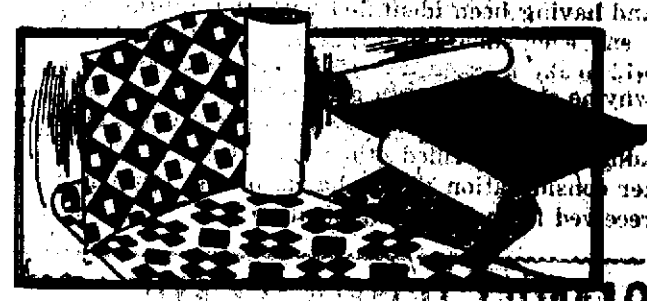

Life is not merely to live, but
to live well, eat well, digest well,
work well, sleep well, look well.
What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is
if one will only adopt the morning
inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to
feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy
from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead,
feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous
stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick
or well, should, each morning,
before breakfast, drink a glass
of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it
to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and puri-

fying the entire alimentary canal
before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate
on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out
all the sour fermentations, gases,
waste and acidity and gives one
a splendid appetite for breakfast.
While you are enjoying your
breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood
and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of "people" who
are bothered with constipation,
bilious spells, stomach trouble,
rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone
phosphate from the drug store,
which will cost but little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

HIS TWO EXCELLENT REASONS

Pedestrian Surely Could Not Be Blamed for Not Putting Motorist Right at Once.

The motorist had lost his way on a country road. Halting the first pedestrian he overtook, he asked the way to Blankville.

"I don't know as I can explain it very clearly," replied the pedestrian, "but if you'll take me in your car I'll point it out to you as we go along."

"Good!" said the motorist. "Jump in."

"First off," directed the pedestrian, as he took his seat in the car; "you drive straight ahead the way you were going for about two miles."

When the two miles had been traversed he continued: "Now, if you'll let me out here I can show you the rest of the way without going along. Just turn around and go back three miles, and there you are."

"Why didn't you tell me that in the first place instead of taking me two miles in the wrong direction?" demanded the motorist.

"I didn't want to hurt your feelings right away by telling you you were going in the wrong direction," replied the other; "and, besides, I live here."

Thrilling Employment.

There are few posts as thrilling as those occupied by the modern torpedo-boatmen and his men. The officer has to be an electrical engineer, a scientist, versed in chemistry, a telegrapher, a submarine mining engineer, a mechanic, and various other things. During action the torpedo-boatman must stand by and wait, because the opening ranges of a modern naval engagement are so great that torpedoes cannot be used. But when the torpedo bugles sound for action the crews immediately repair below decks, load the torpedo tubes, and again wait for orders to fire.

For hours the officer stands thus, watching the combat. Then suddenly his chance comes. The ships close in. There is a good chance to put a torpedo into an enemy vessel. "Salick!" a dull hissing tells that the torpedo has left the tube and is speeding towards its mark. Then the tubes are again loaded, and so it goes on.

The Whisky Insurrection.

The Whisky Insurrection is the name given to a small episode in the early history of the United States. The so-called insurrection was a small revolt in the western part of Pennsylvania, occasioned by the passing of the excise law of March 3, 1791. It was the excise tax on liquor that the revolutionists objected to—another instance of the unpopularity of a new tax, and especially of a new excise tax. The agitation against this tax continued through the years 1793 and 1794. There was a gathering of 7,000 armed men to resist the enforcement of the law, but resistance broke down before the approach of federal troops sent to the scene of the revolt by President Washington, who accompanied them part of the way. The principal leader of the revolutionists was a man named Bradford, who fled upon the approach of the troops. Only two persons were killed in the "insurrection" and these in a brawl with the soldiers.

Origin of a Postal Custom.

The steamship Oregon was lost off Fire Island on March 14, 1880. She was rammed by a coal-steamer schooner, remaining afloat for half an hour, a time which made it possible to save every person aboard. When her mail was fished up and delivered the pieces were stamped with a statement that they had been in the wreck, the first instance of a practice which is now employed by direction of the International Postal Union. The credit for this simple device is believed to be due to Edward M. Morgan, at that time in a subordinate position in the New York post office, who foresaw that a few minutes' work with a rubber stamp would forestall an infinitude of complaint.

Indiana Making Good Farmers.

The Indian in Canada who has given the dominion government very little trouble ever since he learned that the mounted policeman was his friend and "the tongue of British justice was straight." is coming to be an efficient factor in Alberta and Saskatchewan farming. He and the swift-footed moose that has been taught in the far North of the provinces to work in harness, are proof sufficient that while the wilderness may be hard to conquer, it is comparatively easy to enslave. Now these Indians are helping to supply the world with wheat and other grains.

Jill—Is that right?

"Sure, and they are said to be so lifelike that the day after they were first produced an epidemic of hives broke out among the population."

Knew He'd Have To.

Bill—Don't you want to go skating?

Jill—No, I don't.

"I thought you liked skating?"

"So I do."

"Then why not come along?"

"Because I've been riding horseback all day, and it hurts me terribly to sit down."

Life insurance experts contend that a woman who is in good health at the age of forty-five is likely to outlive a man of the same age, because she is apt to be more temperate and less liable to accident.

In the United States there are 7,000 women who possess medical degrees.

COLORED MEN ESCAPE FROM QUARRANTINE

"Coon hunters" were out pell mell in this section of Clearfield county in search of the strong scent of four coons regardless of the fact that Pennsylvania game laws provided that coons shall only be hunted in the fall.

This particular hunt started at Woodland about noon yesterday. The Progress told the story several days ago of an outbreak of small pox at Woodland. Following the discovery of the first cases the victims were promptly isolated and every person known to have been in contact was speedily vaccinated.

Some ten days later another case or two developed, a negro and a white man being taken down with the disease. Again the order to vaccinate all contacts went forth and on their refusal to submit a number of he-coons were rounded up by the State health authorities and corraled in a detention camp.

The monotony of their existence sort of paled on the colored gentlemen and about 2 o'clock Tuesday morning four of the men scaled the walls of the enclosure and beat it for freedom and less sanitary surroundings.

When their escape was noted the word was immediately telephoned in to County Health Registrar McQuown, acquainting him with the status of health conditions there and whereabouts. Field Marshal McQuown immediately went into executive session with himself and summoning his board of strategy composed of Constable Bowman, gave orders to start a systematic man hunt and the "coon hunt" was on.

Sheriff Mack Kuhn of the Third Ward was placed on the scent and despite the fact that he was suffering from a severe cold, followed same unerringly to the hiding place of one of the escapees down below the Fourth Ward. He was promptly arrested and placed in jail, and thereby hangs a tale.

Marshal McQuown and his aide tracked the other three men to Curwensville and from thence to Grampian where they were rounded up and detained until the tentacles of the health authorities could once more be cast about them.

After carefully fumigating and disinfecting themselves—insane and out—the forces of the health department departed last evening after the shades of night had fallen to pick up their prisoners. Grampian was reached in the dead hours of the night; the prisoners secured and transportation by the Ford route to Woodland began, where the cavalcade arrived this morning just twenty-four hours to the minute from the time the smallpox suspects escaped.

The guard has been doubled, a "dead line" established and the victims promised instantaneous death if they ever again so much as look over that fence.

It is said that when the Grampian constable who made the arrest was informed of the charge against the men, he started right in to bury his official robes of office and the Grampian borough council called a special meeting for this evening to determine whether or not it will be necessary to burn the borough hall as a precautionary health measure.

The prisoners in the jail threatened to go on strike and jump their jobs when they were acquainted with the state of affairs this morning and following the removal of the wear-sick man all hands were put to work fumigating the premises. Malefactor throughout the county have already petitioned District Attorney Arnold demanding that the jail be quarantined against outside and ingress for at least thirty days but no such action is contemplated just yet awhile.

RELIGIOUS WELFARE OF INTERNEED ALIENS

The religious welfare of interned aliens at Fort Oglethorpe, Fort McPherson, Hot Springs, and Fort Douglas, is being cared for by the Committee on Interned Aliens and Prisoners of War, of the General War Time Commission of the churches. Camp pastors who speak German have been obtained for the last three posts, with the approval of the government. They will cooperate with the Army chaplain in charge and report to him. As far the greater number of the men in these camps are Lutherans, the securing of workers has been done largely through the National Lutheran Commission for Soldiers' and Sailors' Welfare.

THE WOMEN SPEAK

By Theodosia Garrison
of The Vigilantes

We used to say, in our old days of ease, After a round of foolish revelries, Each one of us a little bored with mirth—"I am so tired," sure of sympathy, Or we complained as housewives, bitterly, Of our increasing duties upon earth. Sisters of mine, it is not so today— We who find daylight all too short to pay Our debt of gratitude. Or great, or less, To any, every task our zeal may find We give our best of hand and heart and mind, And who is there who speaks of weariness?

We said "once, 'I am tired,'—now that same Word on our lips would be a word of shame, We cannot hear enough to prove us true To those who uncomplaining, glorious, Fight through the flame of very Hell for us. Lord, of Thy mercy, give us more to do!

Snake Oil

Accomplishing most wonderful results. I want to thank you for your wonderful oil, states Mrs. C. Gibson of Woodstock, Ark. "My little girl, very low with diphtheria, I had her two doses of medicine which cost me $20 with no result. I bought 25c bottle of your oil and one application relieved her. She is well. It is the greatest remedy I ever tried. Mr. Gibson made this statement before hundreds of people. Mrs. Grace Messer, 234 Whitney St., Hartford, Conn., writes: 'I have used your Antiseptic Oil for neuralgia with great effects. Only thing I have ever had that stopped the pain immediately.' Mrs. Williams, Gadsden, Ala., writes: 'I have used your great pain oil for rheumatism, stiff joints, aches, sore throat, and I want to say that this is the greatest remedy I ever tried. It cures reported daily from thousands of grateful users of this wonderful oil. Every bottle guaranteed 25c, $1.00, or money refunded. At Hoadley's Drug Store.'

HOW ABOUT A TWILIGHT LEAGUE?

Now that we have extra hours of daylight, thanks to the Federal daylight saving law, why can't Clearfield baseball fans rejuvenate their old-time Twilight League?

The High School boys, Y. M. C. A. and different manufacturing plants would no doubt organize teams and thus provide a little recreation after the gardens are made.

If Backachy or Kidneys Bother

Eat less meat, also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish aches and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief now or three times during the night. When the kidneys cog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad. Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. MODERN PROBLEMS CLUB MEETING

At a meeting held in the high school building Tuesday evening, the Modern Problems Club was very honored in having G. A. Stewart, Editor of the Progress, the subject of Mr. Stewart's talk was "Russia." He told us first of the vast area of the population. These two factors do not make a nation. It is the spirit which does so. The people of Russia had no respect for their government. Their interests were selfish and selfish.

We as a people must keep up our spirits—we must hope whether the brakes of the game seem against us or not. Russia failed to support the boys at the front. This she failed to do because her people were not willing to make the sacrifices necessary to provide for them.

Politics is the science of government. The young people of America should study politics in order to be able to decide questions which will come out of this war and decide them in the best way for the welfare of the nation.

It must be taken that the American people do not become divided. There had to be a public opinion which will overcome that.

Our President did not wish to enter the war. He hoped and prayed that Germany as a nation would see their mistake and act as a Christian nation.

But when no other plan could be adopted he entered this conflict in a thoughtful and prayerful manner. It was a part of God's plan that President Wilson should lead the United States to crush the German government.

The club again thanks Mr. Stewart for his help and hope he returns to visit us soon.

TEACHING THE MORAL AIMS OF THE WAR

A campaign of education in the moral aims of the war is being conducted all over the United States through the churches and religious organizations. Meetings are being held at important centers that clergy and church workers of all denominations are attending. Speakers of national and international prominence address these gatherings. The object of this campaign is to concentrate attention upon the significance of the war as interpreted by President Wilson in his messages to Congress and to quicken the spirit of America in support of the President's policies in prosecuting the war for democracy, international justice, and a league of nations.

This campaign is undertaken by the Church Peace Union, the League to Enforce Peace with the cooperation of the Federal Council of Churches, and the World Alliance for International Friendship through the Churches.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE DAY-FLY.

"Good morning," said the regular fly politely. He was known to the day-fly family as Reg which was short for regular.

"Good-day," said the day-fly. "How long do you expect to live?" asked Reg.

"Several days, perhaps," said the day-fly. "All of your family do just the same. I really can't understand it," said Reg.

"I suppose not," said the day-fly. "That's because you are a regular fly. You do not understand flies of our kind."

"I don't," said Reg. "Sometimes I take a long time getting ready to burst into being a fly," said the day-fly, "but it doesn't matter how long I take over it, once I am a fly I do not care to live."

"How sad," said Reg. "Why not?" "I want to be a fly before I am one," said the day-fly. "Sometimes I hurry more than other times out of my larvae state, but after I am a fly my ambition is satisfied and I take no interest in anything."

"Why are you called a day-fly?" asked Reg. "I am sure many of your family have lived longer than a day. And you said you expected to live several days. Do explain it to me."

"I will," said the day-fly, stretching her wings.

"Pray begin soon, dear Lady Day-Fly," said Reg coaxingly. "For you have such a short time to live."

"Now the day-fly did not seem to feel in the least bit unhappy when Reg said that she had such a short time to live. For it was really her own fault she was going to die so soon, and she was just as nice to Reg as if he hadn't made a speech which would have seemed very dismal to most creatures."

"I suppose we are called day-flies because we live such a short time and a day is a very short time. But they should call us flies-of-several-days which would be much more correct."

"I suppose they haven't the time to say such a lot about such small creatures," said Reg.

"They have a great deal of time," said the day-fly. "I could say it and I haven't so much time. They have days and days and days—not two or three. And they even have years and—oh—terribly long times."

The day-fly trembled at the thought of so many years ahead, and really she couldn't think of years very well for she only understood what days were. She simply knew that years meant days almost without number, so many were there.

"But we shouldn't be called day-flies, for we almost always live several days."

"Haven't you ever wanted to live longer?" asked the regular fly.

"No," said the day-fly. "Will you stop today and have luncheon with me?" asked Reg. He was growing quite hungry. He knew Mrs. Reg would be delighted to have a guest for luncheon.

"Thank you, no," said the day-fly. "I never eat. I don't believe my family ever have, either. We aren't eating flies."

"No wonder you don't live more than several days," said Reg. "You take no food and no nourishment. You cannot help but die. Eat and you will live to be a strong fly like myself."

"I'm too dainty to eat," said the day-fly.

"Nonsense," said Reg. "It's far more fun to eat than to be dainty."

"Perhaps," said the day-fly. "But I really can't change my ways. I thank you kindly for your invitation, but I do not want to eat. I just want a little glimpse of the world and then I do not want to live any more."

"I'm sorry," said Reg. "And I wish you would change your ways, but as you won't, I'm thankful to you for the interesting talk I've had with you. It was good of you to give me so much of your time when you had so little of it."

"You are welcome," said the day-fly. "And now I must be going off. The world is beginning to tire me and I've had enough of it. I hope you'll enjoy luncheon."

"Of all the queer flies," said Reg, "the day-fly takes the prize. Fancy not wanting to eat or live!"

On the Same Principle.
"Mother, what color are my eyes?" asked Clara.

"They are gray, dear."

"Mother, could the lady that makes your gray hair brown, color my eyes?"

STRIPES AND PLAIDS LEAD IN SMART SKIRTINGS

You take a walk on the street. You see women passing. Every time you turn your head, stripes or plaids seem to greet you. In some respects, it would also seem, the bigger the plaid and the wider the stripe, the more you like it. Another point—by no means are they all "loud"—many you have to look at twice to recognize as being in the famous Scotch designs. Women in search of material to make an attractive street and dressy skirt will find these plaids much to their liking.

These skirtings, $2.25 to $3.50 a yard.

THE NEW SILK GINGHAMS AT $1.50 YD.

Some unusually fine values to be found in this group—some are manufacturer's advance Spring designs and which sold at higher costs. Plaids are in striking and harmonious effects; some two-tones.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—these are the qualities of a woman with a good clear skin. A natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness, assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of nerve wrecks, run-downs, brain fags, and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning before breakfast a glass of hot water with a tea spoonful of limestone phosphate in it. To wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten years of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds, and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of water flagrant has been able to be taken to his home on Gulch avenue from the hospital where he has been ill with pneumonia.

GREEKS AND BRITISH SUCCESSFUL IN EAST

British counter attacks have wrested from the enemy several of the important positions reported taken by the Germans on Monday and Tuesday.

"In the vicinity of Wytschaete yesterday evening we successfully counter attacked," Haig's official statement stated today. "In Metern the situation also was restored. The village is ours. South of Arras opposite Boyelles our line was completely restored (Boyelles is seven miles south of Arras)."

"South of the Somme hostile artillery fire increased considerably this morning. At Bailloul a battalion of German infantry in close formation was caught under our fire at close range and suffered heavy casualties. We also took a few prisoners. The enemy endeavored to develop an attack west of Robecq yesterday afternoon after a bombardment but the advance was broken up. Repeated hostile attacks north of Bailloul yesterday afternoon and evening were repulsed with loss to the enemy. Advance enemy forces were caught under our fire east of Ypres yesterday afternoon at our old positions and were destroyed."

East of Ypres in consequence of the enemy's progress along Bailloul, British troops holding forward positions were withdrawn to a new line deliberately and without interference from the enemy. The restoration of Metern from where it was thought the enemy expected to drive west against Hazebrouck may indicate a brilliant recovery for the British. Its restoration may mean that the German line has been dangerously thinned to prevent the continuation of the offensive toward Ypres.

While the Germans developed the air offensive in the direction of Ypres on the western front today, Greek and British troops were reported to have scored a brilliant success in the initial steps of a first offensive on the Macedonian front. The Greeks crossed the Epirus river and occupied more than one-half score of villages to the north of Lachtalines where the crossing was made. The British occupied Kumli and Armanli. Dispatches reporting the new movement of allied troops made no mention of any fighting between Turkey and Bulgarian forces but it was thought likely that the allied commanders were in possession of some information to be used to relieve the situation.

By William Philip Simms
With the British Armies in the Field, April 17—Von Arruin and Von Quast, continuing their drive toward Hazebrouck are suffering heavy losses. Apparently the only enemy gains in the past 24 hours has been at Wytschaete which was occupied during a blinding mist at dusk last night. British troops are reported as pushing against the line which probably will be retained.

THE FRENCH REPORT
Paris, April 17—Successful French raids at Butch-Bu-Mefnit and Khur where American artillery is stationed and at Fliray on the Toul sector were reported by the French war office today. There was the usual cannonading on the Somme. Along the right bank of the Meuse six miles north of Verdun, an enemy attack failed.

BULLETIN
By William Philip Simms
With the British Forces in the Field, April 17—South of Ypres an attempted enemy advance was shot down at short range. In retreating, both enemy tanks were caught by the full force of the British artillery and machine guns. The famous Virgin from the church tower has been destroyed. The figure has been in history since 1914 when the city was shelled by the Germans. There was a wide spread superstition that when the Virgin holding the figure of the infant Jesus fell peace would be declared.

From an elevation near Bailloul I watched the battle swirl throughout the afternoon. The area west was constantly pounded by high velocity shells while vapors drifted across the fields. Northeast of Bailloul near Baccanture von Bernard's division attacked heavily at three o'clock in the afternoon. The British guns made great holes in their ranks. All night long the British lines seemed intact while the fighting fields were covered with dead.

"PUTTING A BRICK IN HIS GLOVE"

SAFETY COMMITTEE TO DEAL HARSHLY WITH SEDITION

The Clearfield County Committee of Public Safety held a well attended meeting last evening at which the agricultural situation was one of the principal topics of discussion. Resolutions were passed assuring the farmers of the county that everything possible would be done by the Public Safety committee to furnish them with additional labor during the planting and harvesting season.

The question of roofing out pro-Germans and the local fat headed dampfools who seem to think it is smart to hobnob together in little sedition-spreading groups and not only rejoice over any success the Kaiser's murderers may attain but pool pooh and belittle every movement of their government in the prosecution of the war. Forbearance has about ceased to be a virtue in this regard and the Public Safety committee is going to see that an end is made to the insidious campaign in this county.

Old men in their dotage are entitled to a fair measure of respect but when in their garrulity and imbecility they give aid and comfort to the enemy and interfere as far as possible with the morale of our people by their knocking and belittling of our government and our allies, it is time they are brought to their senses with a round turn, and that is what the committee propose doing henceforth.

He who is not with us is against, and hereafter he must take his place and suffer the consequences and shut up or be locked up. With the boys over there facing the murderous Hun, we cannot allow any shooting in the back even though it be shooting off the mouth. There is no room in this county for any but true Americans and the community has the right to and will define that term and exact absolute compliance with that definition.

The Public Safety committee desires to have reports on all pro-German utterances and the names of all who refuse to purchase Liberty Bonds. It is the duty of all loyal Americans to furnish any such information they may possess.

This is a serious matter and deserves the most drastic action.

LITTLE TOT HAS NARROW ESCAPE

The little baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Littman was struck and knocked down by the R. C. Shaw Grocery company's delivery truck just a few minutes before 12 o'clock today.

The accident occurred on Second street in front of Mr. Littman's store. The child and an older brother had been playing on the sidewalk and when the boy darted across the street the baby, eighteen months old, toddled out after him. The delivery truck which was being driven by Emory Shaw was coming down street slowed up to let the first child pass and never saw the baby until she stepped from behind a car parked along the curb, almost in front of him. He swerved the machine but was too close to avoid a collision. The fender struck the little one and knocked her down. Mr. Shaw stopped instantly and picking the little tot up took her to Dr. Gordon's office where an examination disclosed the fact that aside from a minor bruise or two she was unhurt.

PORKLESS MEAL FOR DEMOCRATS

Washington, April 17—The House today passed a "Porkless" river and harbor appropriation bill carrying $20,000,000. It contained no projects except those specifically recommended by the war department or those considered necessary to the war. Only two new projects were carried in the bill.

DRAFT BOARD TO SEND FIFTEEN TO KENTUCKY

In Addition To Those Going To Camp Lee Others Will Go To Fort Thomas May 1st

LIST OF THOSE WHO WILL GO

The war department has issued a call for 1970 men from the territory contributory to Camp Lee to be entrained during the five day period beginning May 1st to be sent to Fort Thomas, Kentucky.

The local exemption board were notified this morning that the quota for this district was 15 men. District No. 2 will be required to send 10 and District No. 3 must provide 16. In filling these calls men will be inducted out of Class one in sequence of order numbers, except that the provisions relating to men actively, completely and assiduously engaged in the planting and cultivation of crops should be followed.

The number of men called for under the above calls must be actually entrained and men furnished under these calls will be credited against the next next quota from the districts. This call is in addition to the previous one for Camp Lee, which requires District No. 1 to send twenty men within five days of April 26.

The men for these two calls will be selected from the following list, the first twenty to go to Camp Lee and the remaining fifteen for Camp Thomas to be chosen from the remainder in the order they appear here with:

MORE TROUBLE FOR EMPEROR CHARLES

By United Press
Copenhagen, April 17—Hungarian Premier Wekerle and his cabinet will resign, according to reports received here today. SPOILATION OF ALSACE LORRAINE CONTINUED BY TEUTON INVADER

By Henry Wood
(United Press Correspondent)

With The French Armies, March 11. (By Mail.)—Germany's latest spoliation of Alsace-Lorraine consists of the carrying away from the latter of all the old antiquities and objects of art on which the two provinces for centuries past have been unusually rich.

The exodus of all these objects, many of priceless historic and artistic worth, across the borders of the two provinces and over into the big German cities would appear to constitute Germany's final effort to squeeze out of Alsace and Lorraine the last thing of value while she still has it within her power to do so.

During the Seventeenth Century Alsace and Lorraine became very much a center for various lines of art and especially for the making of the various styles of furniture which have since won for themselves fixed places in the history and development of artistic furnishings. Because Alsace and Lorraine was the center of the various trades, art crafts, and manufacturers that were employed in the production of these historic styles of furniture, thousands of the best pieces remained in the two provinces where they became heirlooms in the native families.

It is largely this class of art objects that the Germans are now searching out and carrying off to Berlin, Munich and other German centers. Owing to the fact that the German authorities are now forcing the liquidation and sale of all homes and other properties owned by French citizens and often of Alsacians guilty only of French sympathies, thousands of these old pieces of furniture are being thrown onto the market in a manner that enables the German antiquarians to buy them at nominal figures. In other instances, the antiquarians search out families that have been impoverished by the war and income them to part for a little ready money with objects of the greatest artistic value.

This exploitation of the two provinces by German antiquity dealers appears to have reached such a proportion that even the German press, notably the "Kleine Press" of Frankfurt have printed articles pointing out the iniquitous practice. The "Hagenauer Zeitung" also details the scandal in the following manner:

"The lovers of the art objects and antiquities of Alsace are becoming alarmed over the fate of all the beautiful and precious art treasures which are now actually leaving the country. From all parts of the German Empire antiquarians are now arriving, gaining possession of hidden treasures from the very bottom of the two frontier provinces for the purpose of reselling them at fabulous prices to their clients at Berlin, Munich and elsewhere."

"The hour is propitious for purposes. Numerous auctioneers and foreclosures offer favorable occasions for the acquisition of objects of real style. Many small middle class families of the villages need of money and without too much insistence will give up a bureau of the Louis Sixteenth style which has come down to them from a great mother and which is finished in styles of brass engraved by hand. With the money which they receive they can procure other articles less indispensable."

"In the seventeenth century the crafts were very flourishing in Alsace. The house furnishing which one encountered even in the smallest, most far-away villages were elegant and solid. The styles which bore the names of the kings of France, which, in the villages, were of delicate workmanship, acquired the country districts a character entirely original, rustic. It is to be regretted that the antiquarians are now seeking out the little Alsacian houses and find little difficulty by paying the country people in actual currency, acquiring the old family treasures, which the majority no longer run, and the chairs with their magnificent backs worn by age."

"The liquidation of objects of this sort has increased immensely during the year that has just finished. The real buyers of them are to be found in the large cities. For the most part they are the 'new rich' who have made their fortunes from the war and who from one day to the other find themselves transported from the country to the top of German society and seek by all means to surround themselves with objects of ancient art."

CHARLEY SCHWAB WILL BUILD SHIPS

Washington, April 16.—Charles Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, was this afternoon named by President Wilson as general of the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

In that capacity he will have complete charge of the construction of the American merchant marine. He lay in the ship building program led to the call upon Mr. Schwab for the huge task.

The following official statement was issued at the White House: "Edward N. Hurley, Charles M. Schwab, Bainbridge Colby and Charles Piez were received by the president at the White House today. It was stated that the subject discussed was the progress and condition of the national shipbuilding program. The carrying forward of the construction work in the 110 shipyards now in operation is so vast that it requires a reinforcement of the shipbuilding organization throughout the country."

Schwab Answers Nation's Call

"Later in the day Chairman Hurley, of the shipping board, announced that a new office with wide powers had been created by the trustees of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. The new position is that of director general, and Mr. Schwab has been asked to accept this position in answer to the call of the nation."

"Charles Piez, vice president of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, recommended that the post of general manager of the corporation be at once abolished so that Mr. Schwab, as director general, should be wholly un-

hampered in carrying out the large task intrusted to him. Mr. Piez, since the retirement of Admiral Harris, has been filling both the position of vice president and that of general manager.

"Mr. Schwab will have complete supervision and direction of the work of shipbuilding."

"He agreed to take up the work at the sacrifice of his present wishes in the matter. His services were virtually commandeered. His great experience as a steel maker and builder of ships has been drafted for the nation."

The occasion warranted ceremonies. Soldiers of the Sea from the Navy Yard and a band paraded. Mayor Hylan spoke.

The Marines did not doubt the famous patriot would help their cause. He was alive. So without hesitating they established a recruiting tent in front of the Franklin statue at Nassau street and Park row.

PASHA PAYS PENALTY

France can give us pointers on the handling of disloyal citizens and traitors. Bolo Pasha was only recently convicted of treason by the French Federal Government and yesterday he paid the death penalty for his nefarious meddling. Had Bolo Pasha been tried in the United States his deserved punishment would have been delayed. Perhaps he would have gotten off as easily as the Philadelphia German editors.

A WARNING

The unbridled tongues of foolish and disloyal citizens can easily change our land into a field of carnage and riot. The false rumors and malicious stories constantly being circulated discrediting our high officials, the Red Cross, the care and conduct of our troops, the condition of cantonments, etc., is enemy propaganda, intended to create distrust and discontent among our soldiers and our people, and also discourage those working for our government.

These stories are accepted as news and unfortunately are being given the widest circulation by patriotic citizens who do not think they are aiding our enemies.

Every loyal citizen should assist in stopping these malignant stories.

DESERVES CONSIDERATION

General Clements of Sunbury who was recently dropped from the army payrolls because of physical disability is now a candidate for Congress at Large and his many friends throughout the state are very active in his behalf. There are four Congressmen at Large to be elected and Republicans should make sure that General Clements is one of them. He possesses fine qualifications, having been in France since we entered the war and having been identified with the military arm of our government ever since the organization of the National Guard. He will make a good war time congressman. There is no reason why he should not be a good soldier now if put in some executive position. He is a civilian "swivel chair" officer but the same could be said of many others. General Clements deserves better consideration at the hands of the Republican party than he received in the past.

SAMUEL GOMPERS AND HIS WORK FOR LOYALTY AND DEMOCRACY

When the biography of Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, comes to be written, the much credit cannot be given to him for the work he has been doing through the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy. This publicity organization issues a weekly syndicate service to the labor papers of the country and through this service many labor leaders have been able to express in their own way their loyalty to the country. In a recent issue, William P. Clarke, President of the American Flint Glass Workers' Union has given expression to sentiments which the whole country will receive gratefully as the voice of loyal labor. Here are epitomized the most striking features of his article:

"Not so long ago it was in some instances regarded as treasonable to the working people for a leader to proclaim that the interests of capital and labor were identical, and there was some justification for that feeling."

"War, like politics, makes strange bed-fellows. Today, we find Democrats, Republicans, and Socialists acting in unison on questions of great moment, and this is as it should be if the privileges that we as a nation have enjoyed are to be preserved and perpetuated for those who are to follow us."

"The Creator who made the material elements of different values, who cre-

RUSSIANS TAKEN AT WOODLAND PROTEST LOYALTY

Sheriff German was called to Woodland last night on complaint of Burgess Breder of Wallacetown regarding the alleged scuttling of three young men discharged from the Wallacetown brick works and who had gone to Woodland in search of employment.

It was stated by Burgess Breder that following their discharge at Wallacetown the men had given utterance to pro-German sentiments.

The Sheriff had no trouble in picking up the men at Woodland, but instead of being Germans they proved to be Russians, one of them having been in this country but about two months. Two of the men were 20 years of age and the other 22. The latter had his registration card and all three expressed themselves as being alright and not pro-German. They said their difficulty at Wallacetown was with the boarding boss who failed to feed them enough. They are being held in the jail pending a hearing.

PROVISIONS OF NEW SEDITION LAW TO BE MOST DRISTIC

Washington, April 16.—Enemies of American war activities are to be classed as spies, tried by a court martial and killed under the provisions of anti sedition bill introduced today.

Every person who attempts to interfere in any way with the movement of troops or the operation of military or naval forces and persons who openly espouse the cause of Germany and publish false statements, will be punishable with death. Acts of sabotage or the wilful destruction of war material are also included within the scope of the proposed law.

Miss Ruth Richardson, of Pittsburgh, is visiting her friend Mrs. R. C. Shaffer of Fourth street.

ated flowers of various sweetness, and birds of diverse plumage, made men of different moulds and destined for different work in this busy world.

"The architect may plan, the manager may direct, the man may shine, and the land may be fertile, but the hand and brain of the laborer must respond before results desired shall be attained."

"First, there must be co-operation; secondly, co-operation must be secured without lowering the standards of labor, and without annulling the laws that have been placed on the statute books of States and Nation for the benefit of the working people; thirdly, we must see that undue profits are not made from the sacrifice of humanity by the profiteers of our time."

"While the workers seek justice, so must they be willing to accord justice to the manufacturers in order that there will be a fair return for the capital invested and energy expended; for any other course is wrong and a wrong cannot long endure."

"Strange ideas, hopes and aspirations will arise in the breasts of men. Sometimes we get our minds set on a certain problem and we cannot recognize or appreciate the position of others; but frequently this is due to the fact that we have undertaken to deny others the right to give vent to their feelings. This is wrong."

"If fairness enforces the heart of men and they come together and take into consideration, first, the interests of our government and our people, and then the perpetuation of liberty, I feel that the disputes that arise between us can be well disposed of without any serious interruption to the industries of our country, and co-operation will be a fact and not a theory."

"Any other course would mean that we are slacking on our brothers at the front."

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People affected with bad breath and quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

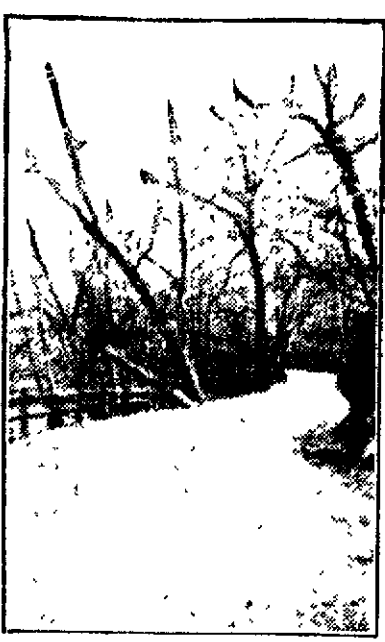

GOOD ROADS

FAME FROM ITS GOOD ROADS

Improved Streets, Smooth and Dustless Highways Around Philadelphia Advertisers City.

Good streets and smooth, dustless country roads, have been a means of advertising and giving added importance to Philadelphia, not only throughout the United States and Canada, but abroad, according to William H. Connel, chief of the bureau of highways, Philadelphia Inquirer states.

Highway experts from scores of American and European cities, as well as engineers representing practically every state in this country, have studied the progress made by Philadelphia in dealing with one of the greatest of municipal problems, that of road construction and maintenance, and have requested information regarding the specifications used, the processes followed and other data pertaining to the work as carried on in this city, Chief Connel said.

Within the limits of the city, motorists, most critical of road users, can travel for more than 150 miles by diverse routes, without experiencing the slightest difficulty because of poor roads or dusty ones. The head of the highway bureau asserted. Visiting tourists, impressed by this fact, have heralded the reputation of Philadelphia as the city of good roads throughout the country, he said. The improvement, in many instances, has been made at comparatively little expense by means of surface treatments, varied to meet the demands of the occasion, he pointed out.

GROWTH OF IMPROVED ROADS

Inventions, Discoveries and Public Improvements Come When There is Strong Demand.

The history of good roads affords a striking example of the fact that inventions, discoveries and public improvements take place only when there is an insistent demand for them. In early times, when each family lived largely to itself, there was little commerce in the articles produced on the farm and consequently little need for transportation. As large cities developed the demand for roads on which products might be easily transported grew.

Two of the most recent causes for the improvement of roads have been pleasure vehicles. Twenty-five years ago the bicycle began to come into common use and the cyclists made a vigorous demand for roads on which they might ride. Unfortunately, however, paths for bicycles were constructed in many places in lieu of improved roads. The invention of the automobile, however, has meant a real step toward better roads.

GET GOOD HIGHWAY SYSTEM

Not Difficult Problem if County or Township is Willing to Use Common Sense.

How to get a good road system is not a difficult problem, if a county or township is willing to be guided by common sense. The first step is to employ a competent highway engineer. He will make a study of traffic conditions, ascertain where the main market lines with a type of surfacing material that will be less expensive than that required on the main market lines, and yet will at the same time meet all traffic requirements on the feeder lines. The main lines, if built of concrete, will be permanent and cost less to maintain.

How to Place Culvert. Where a culvert is placed in a road on a hillside to take care of the drainage collected in an uphill ditch, it should be placed across the road pointing in the direction of the flow of the steepest grade.

Changing Milk for Calf. The time to change the calf from when milk to plain milk depends upon the development of the calf. If it is to be used for milk, it should be changed at the end of the second week, but the milk would be better.

If you don't read every page of The Progress you are bound to miss something interesting.

PLEASANT FAREWELL PARTY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Jacob on Dorey street was the scene of a happy family gathering Sunday last. The occasion was in the nature of a farewell party for their son Bruce Jacobs who left to join his company at Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., on Monday.

The day was most pleasantly spent and an elegant dinner was enjoyed by all. All of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob's children were present and their children and grand children brought the total up to seventeen.

SUCCESSFUL WAR WORK OF INDIANAPOLIS GIRLS

The First Presbyterian church of Indianapolis, Ind., is enrolling its young women, 15 years of age and over, in a society to look after the needs of the 63 boys of the church who are in military service. This society was organized as a young women's subcommittee to its general war-service committee. The boys are kept in constant touch with home interests and are frequently sent gifts, thus proving to them that their efforts in this great struggle are being appreciated.

Ten cents is contributed by each member monthly, as dues. There is now a sufficient surplus in the society's treasury to "adopt" a French orphan.

The Pre-eminent One

By REV. B. B. SUTCLIFFE
Extension Department, Moody Bible
Institute, Chicago

TEXT—That in all things he might have
the pre-eminence.—Col. 1:18

This is the fundamental truth which underlies all of God's revelation to
man. What God
has done, is doing
and will yet do, is done with this primary object in
view, viz., that in all things Christ
might have the
pre-eminence.

The Object of the Father's Councils.
We are danger-
ously near the
time when we place man before
God as the object
of his councils.
But before ever
time began it was
Christ who was daily God's delight
(Prov. 8:30). And all during time he is still the pre-eminent one, for it has
pleased the Father that in Christ
should all fullness dwell (Col. 1:19).
Not man but Christ has been made heir
of all things (Heb. 1:2). After time
will be passed this will still be true, as
is stated in Eph. 1:10, "that in the dispensation of the fullness of times he
will gather together in one all things
in Christ, both which are in heaven and which are on earth." The error of humanitarianism rises out of a denial of this truth and the consequent
attempt to put men in Christ's place.
Humanitarianism is nothing more than
the exaltation of man, leading to his deification and the enthronement of
the human above the divine. Mankind
can come into the purposed blessing
from God only as Christ is given his
proper place—that of being the preeminent object of God's councils. And what is true of the human race is true
of the individual. That life is blessed
in the measure in which Christ is pre-
eminent therein.

As the Object of the Scriptures.
The object of the Scriptures is not to give the world a history, although the
only absolutely true history in the world is found there. Neither is the Scripture a scientific book, although
wherever the Scripture touches science
it touches it with a true hand and is never unscientific. Neither do the Scriptures set forth a system of philosophy as the object for which they were written, although the deepest philosophy is found there. The pre-eminent object of the Book is Christ. Without him they would never have been written and we read our Bibles to little purpose if we fail to find him upon its pages. He rebukes those of older time
by saying in Jno. 5:39: "Ye search the Scriptures, for in them ye think ye
have eternal life and they are they
which testify of me." Eternal life is
in him and he is in the Scriptures.
They would not receive him of whom
the Scriptures spoke and so missed
the eternal life for which they sought.
Through the books of history, prophecy
and psalms the one radiant object in
type and symbol, ceremony and prediction is this pre-eminent one—Christ
Jesus the Lord. He is the only key
which will unlock the mysteries and
the only light making plain the dark
places.

As the Object of Our Faith.
Our eternal destiny does not rest
on what we do with certain things but
on a certain person. It is not the faith
but the object of the faith that counts.
I may have splendid faith in a poor
bank and lose my money. I may have much faith in a rotten boat and lose
my life. And I may have first-class
faith in some other object than Christ,
such as a good life or charitable deeds,
and lose my soul. If it is salvation I need I am to believe in him and be saved (Acts 16:31). If it is justification
I want I am to believe in him and
be justified from all things (Acts 13:39). Freedom from condemnation, eternal life, sanctification, all that has
to do with my spiritual well-being hangs on my faith in him. No wonder,
then, that we read, "this is the work of God that ye believe on him whom he hath sent" (Jno. 6:29). He is to be
the pre-eminent object of my faith.
Will my reader stop and ask from the
heart, "Am I really trusting in Christ
alone or is some other object pre-eminent before my faith?" He must do
all for us or he can do nothing for us.
"If ye be circumcised Christ will profit
you nothing" (Gal. 5:2). Adding anything to him and his work makes him
to be of no value to us. He is to be the alone Savior, Justifier, Sanctifier.
God will give all things through him,
nothing apart from him.

The error of humanitarianism will come in when any other object than
this pre-eminent one is before us. We will be kept from the heaven of the Pharisees when we seek for him alone
in the Scriptures, and the eternal interests of our souls will be safeguarded
and made sure when he is the supreme
object of our faith.

Thou O Christ art all I want;
More than all in thee I find.

When from our days of feverish
anxious toil we come home at night
too tired to pray, we have doubtless
defrauded God of a part of his resources upon which he depended more
than upon our direct activity.—N. B.

JUMP FROM BED IN MORNING AND DRINK HOT WATER

Open sluices of system each morning and
wash away the poisonous, stagnant
matter, says authority.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of
limestone phosphate in it, drank each
morning before breakfast, keeps
us looking and feeling fit.

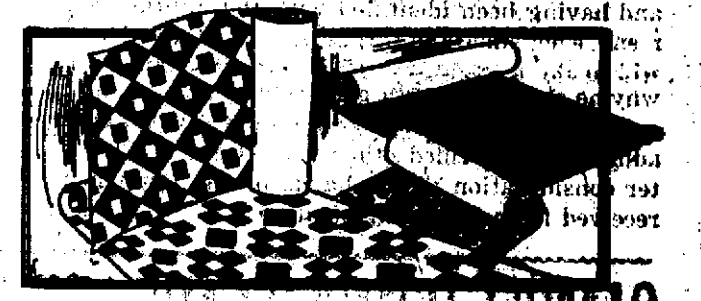

Life is not merely to live, but
to live well, eat well, digest well,
work well, sleep well, look well.
What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is
if one will only adopt the morning
inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to
feel dull and heavy when they
arise, splitting headache, stuffy
from a cold, foul tongue, nasty
breath, acid stomach, can, instead,
feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each
morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous
stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick
or well, should, each morning,
before breakfast, drink a glass
of real hot water with a teaspoon-
ful of limestone phosphate in it
to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous
day's indigestible waste, sour
bile and poisonous toxins; thus
cleansing, sweetening and puri-

fying the entire alimentary canal
before putting more food into
the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate
on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out
all the sour fermentations, gases,
waste and acidity and gives one
a splendid appetite for breakfast.
While you are enjoying your
breakfast the water and phos-
phate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood
and getting ready for a thorough
flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of "people" who
are bothered with constipation,
bilious spells, stomach trouble,
rheumatism; others who have
sallow skins, blood disorders and
sickly complexions are urged to
get a quarter pound of limestone
phosphate from the drug store,
which will cost but little, but is
sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of
internal sanitation.

Why Buy Liberty Bonds?

By DARWIN P. KINGSLEY
President, New York Life Insurance Co.

Why do you save to build a home? It is usually cheaper to pay rent.

Why do you plan to give your children a good education? Will you get any money-dividends from that?

Why do you pay fire insurance premiums and life insurance premiums? You personally will get little if anything from that.

Why do you call the doctor quickly if the children are ailing? You don't stop to think whether you can afford it. Do you?

None of these expenditures are what we call good investments. They don't pay in money, yet all pay the finest of dividends.

Liberty Bonds represent the home, the school, the children; they represent all the great deeds of our fathers and grandfathers; they represent Bunker Hill and Yorktown and Gettysburg; they represent the blessed freedom under which we all live and they also represent the ORDER that makes freedom blessed.

They represent the boys "over there," they represent devastated Belgium and homeless Serbia and murdered Armenia.

They are the defense that shall keep from our shores the monster criminals who outraged the women of Belgium and Northern France and made the men slaves.

They represent the strength that shall restore Belgium and rebuild France and avenge Serbia.

They are the voice of those who are too young or too old or too weak to fight; they are the sword of the women and the cannon of the children; they are the voice of a free people calling to cruelly wronged, freedom-loving men and bringing them succor.

Buy them? Of course you will buy them. You'll borrow to buy them.

You don't need to be urged. You would be ashamed to go home to your children if you did not buy them.

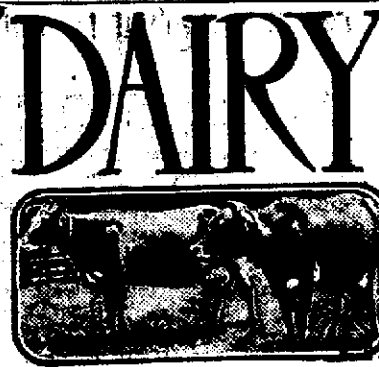

The rate of interest is important but not of first importance. They would pay, they would appeal to you, if they bore no interest whatever.

Add to the rate of interest the dividends they pay in self interest, in safety, in public order, in liberty and law and you have a larger return than you receive from any other thing that you own.

*They will never become "scraps of paper."
They are the best secured investment in the world.*

SELECT DAIRY COW BY TYPE

Milk Production and Reproduction Are Essential Functions—Records Are Lacking.

The essential functions of the dairy cow are milk production and reproduction. According to L. W. Wing, Jr., of the Missouri College of Agriculture, the most accurate methods of determining these are:

- (1) Milk production by means of the milk scales and the Babcock test;
 - (2) Reproduction by breeding records.
- There is only a small proportion of the cows used for dairy purposes on which such records are kept. This necessitates the employment of some other method of selection. In the breeding of high producing animals through several generations it has been observed that there are certain characteristics of the conformation which are correlated with large production. These characteristics are:

Champion Dairy Cow.

(1) Extreme angular form, carrying no surplus flesh, but in good physical condition. (2) Prominent development of the udder and veins. (3) The symmetrical development of the barrel with large capacity. After one becomes familiar with these external characteristics it is possible to select cows producing 300 pounds of fat per year from those producing 150 pounds. The difficulty comes in picking the animal that will produce 500 pounds of fat per year compared to the one producing 400 pounds.

The selection of animals by this method is rather uncertain. Until records are kept of more animals or some other means devised for selection, the selection by type should be used and it is up to everyone interested in dairy cattle to become familiar with it.

LEGUME HAYS ARE VALUABLE

Utilization of Alfalfa or Clover Partly Solves Dairyman's Problem of Feed.

(By G. E. WEAVER, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn.)

One hundred and seventy-five pounds of good alfalfa or clover hay is worth as much as 100 pounds of the ordinary grain feeds. With the present prices for feeds ranging from $25 a ton for bran to $85 per ton for corn, the average cost for 100 pounds of grain is about $2.75. The cost of its food equivalent in the form of 175 pounds of legume hay is $2.15. This much hay will produce 200 pounds of milk and effect a saving in feed cost of 60 cents, which is at the rate of 30 cents for each hundred pounds.

The utilization of such hay partly solves the dairyman's problem in these days of high feed cost and milk investigations.

HEIFERS OF GOOD BREEDING

No Stock More Profitable as They Consume Less Compared With Growth They Make.

No stock pays better to grow at this time than young heifers of good breeding. They consume less feed compared with valuable growth than almost any other animal and there sure will be a good market awaiting them when they begin to be cows. They should be kept thrifty and doing their best, though—and a very little grain will do this.

TWO COMBINATIONS ARE POOR

Good Cow in Hands of Unintelligent Dairyman Is Most Undesirable Dairy Proposition.

A good cow in the hands of a poor dairyman is a poorer proposition than a poor cow in the hands of a good dairyman. Both are very poor combinations, however; a good dairyman will not keep a poor cow more than one season.

BIG GOVERNMENT NITRATE PLANT SOON TO OPERATE

Birmingham, Ala., April 17.—The greatest industrial war drama in the history of this country is being enacted at Muscle Shoals on the Tennessee River in northwestern Alabama.

Developments of tremendous importance to the United States are being rushed to completion there at a cost of $70,000,000.

The government has already well under construction two emergency nitrate plants that will extract nitrogen from the air for use in preparation of ammonium nitrate, so essential to the manufacture of gun cotton, smokeless powder and other high explosives used in war, and for making of high grade fertilizer so necessary to the restoration of soil fertility both in war and peace.

President Wilson has also authorized the construction of power and navigation dam No. 2 of the Tennessee River at Muscle Shoals in which the United States army engineers have recommended ultimate installation of hydro-electric machinery for generating 480,000 horsepower.

Nitrate plant No. 1, it is announced, will be in operation during June. An army of 2,200 men is employed on the work alone. The plant will manufacture thirty tons of nitrates per day by the synthetic ammonia process of air-nitrogen fixation. It will also consume one hundred tons of coke per day and from one to two tons of dolomite. The remainder of the raw material will come from the atmosphere.

The plant will manufacture its own coke. It will also have its own 5,000 horsepower steam plant.

Seven thousand workmen are engaged in the construction of nitrate plant No. 2, and this force will be increased, it is expected to 15,000 before the plant is completed. It will employ a permanent force of 5,000 men. This plant will probably be turning out nitrates in August.

Power to drive this $30,000,000 plant will be furnished by a 60,000 horsepower steam plant and by a steam power plant of the Alabama Power Company on the Warrior River. The steam power plants will be used pending the building of big power dam No. 2 on the Tennessee river. This dam will generate a minimum of 120,000 horsepower at the lowest point.

Work has been started on Dam No. 2, which will be the largest concrete dam in the world. Over 1,300,000 cubic feet of materials will be required. Preliminary estimates place the cost at $16,000,000. Three or four years will be required for its construction. The probable initial installation will provide 160,000 hydro-electric horsepower.

Plans have also been formulated for the erection of Dam No. 3 sixteen miles east of Dam No. 2. This dam will be only 48 feet high but will form a lake 70 miles long, the largest in United States. It will enable the development and utilization of a maximum of 660,000 hydro-electric horsepower at the two dams. This amount will exceed by 85,000 horsepower the amount of power available on both sides of Niagara Falls.

Completion of the Muscle Shoals developments and great power projects will insure for United States the following economic and military benefits:

Munition preparedness at all times, due to dependable supply of ammonium nitrate.

Increased per acre yield of food crops and cotton through a dependable nitrogenous fertilizer supply.

Vast stimulus to development of materials of the south.

Tremendous saving in fuel and labor.

Rapid growth in United States of electrochemical and electro-metallurgical industries.

Cheap electric power to Birmingham district third largest producer of iron ore in America.

HUNDRED THOUSAND WOMEN EMPLOYED BY GERMAN RAILWAY

A total of 100,000 women are now on the pay roll of the Prussian-Hessian railway, ten times as many as there were before the war, according to a statement of Herr von Breitenbach, the Prussian minister of railways, quoted in the Leipzig Illustrirte Zeitung.

"In certain kinds of work," he says, "it has been found that the women are in all respects as efficient as the men whom they replace, especially when their training has been about the same. In other lines of work, especially those requiring unusual exertion or continual physical labor, the efficiency of women is 50 to 75 per cent that of the men."

Von Breitenbach states that the number of women employed by the line will probably increase still further as the war goes on.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and restores its Natural color and lustre at once

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the sage tea and sulphur recipe at home though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready to use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, thus avoiding a lot of muss. Faded gray hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur compound no one can tell, because it does it so naturally so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

It is remarkable that in the course of the eighteenth century women mostly guided the fates of Russia, while the male sovereigns could not hold their own, but usually died violent deaths.

Women were the first agriculturists.

Put that want ad in the Progress and get results.

HIS TWO EXCELLENT REASONS

Pedestrian Surely Could Not Be Blamed for Not Putting Motorist Right at Once.

The motorist had lost his way on a country road. Halting the first pedestrian he overtook, he asked the way to Blankville.

"I don't know as I can explain it very clearly," replied the pedestrian, "but if you'll take me in your car I'll point it out to you as we go along."

"Good!" said the motorist. "Jump in."

When the two miles had been traversed he continued: "Now, if you'll let me out here I can show you the rest of the way without going along. Just turn around and go back three miles, and there you are."

"Why didn't you tell me that in the first place instead of taking me two miles in the wrong direction?" demanded the motorist.

"I didn't want to hurt your feelings right away by telling you you were going in the wrong direction," replied the other; "and, besides, I live here."

Thrilling Employment.

There are few posts as thrilling as those occupied by the modern torpedo-boatmen and his men. The officer has to be an electrical engineer, a scientist, versed in chemistry, a telegrapher, a submarine mining engineer, a mechanic, and various other things. During action the torpedo-boatman must stand by and wait, because the opening ranges of a modern naval engagement are so great that torpedoes cannot be used. But when the torpedo bugles sound for action the crews immediately repair below decks, load the torpedo tubes, and again wait for orders to fire.

For hours the officer stands thus, watching the combat. Then suddenly his chance comes. The ships close in. There is a good chance to put a torpedo into an enemy vessel. "Salick!" a dull hissing tells that the torpedo has left the tube and is speeding towards its mark. Then the tubes are again loaded, and so it goes on.

The Whisky Insurrection.

The Whisky Insurrection is the name given to a small episode in the early history of the United States. The so-called insurrection was a small revolt in the western part of Pennsylvania, occasioned by the passing of the excise law of March 3, 1791. It was the excise tax on liquor that the revolutionists objected to—another instance of the unpopularity of a new tax, and especially of a new excise tax. The agitation against this tax continued through the years 1793 and 1794. There was a gathering of 7,000 armed men to resist the enforcement of the law, but resistance broke down before the approach of federal troops sent to the scene of the revolt by President Washington, who accompanied them part of the way. The principal leader of the revolutionists was a man named Bradford, who fled upon the approach of the troops. Only two persons were killed in the "insurrection" and these in a brawl with the soldiers.

Origin of a Postal Custom.

The steamship Oregon was lost off Fire Island on March 14, 1880. She was rammed by a coal-steamer schooner, remaining afloat for half an hour, a time which made it possible to save every person aboard. When her mail was fished up and delivered the pieces were stamped with a statement that they had been in the wreck, the first instance of a practice which is now employed by direction of the International Postal Union. The credit for this simple device is believed to be due to Edward M. Morgan, at that time in a subordinate position in the New York post office, who foresaw that a few minutes' work with a rubber stamp would forestall an infinitude of complaint.

Indians Making Good Farmers.

The Indian in Canada who has given the Dominion government very little trouble ever since he learned that the mounted policeman was his friend and "the tongue of British justice was straight." is coming to be an efficient factor in Alberta and Saskatchewan farming. He and the swift-footed moose that has been taught in the far North of the provinces to work in harness, are proof sufficient that while the wilderness may be hard to conquer, it is comparatively easy to enslave. Now these Indians are helping to supply the world with wheat and other grains.

Some Pictures.

Bill—You know motion picture films showing the entire process of honey-making by bees have been made by a United States government expert.

Jill—Is that right?

Knew He'd Have To.

Bill—Don't you want to go skating?

Jill—No I don't.

"I thought you liked skating?"

"So I do."

"Then why not come along?"

"Because I've been riding horseback all day, and it hurts me terribly to sit down."

"Coon hunters" were out pell mell in this section of Clearfield county in search of the strong scent of four coons regardless of the fact that Pennsylvania game laws provided that coons shall only be hunted in the fall.

This particular hunt started at Woodland about noon yesterday. The Progress told the story several days ago of an outbreak of small pox at Woodland. Following the discovery of the first cases the victims were promptly isolated and every person known to have been in contact was speedily vaccinated.

Some ten days later another case or two developed, a negro and a white man being taken down with the disease. Again the order to vaccinate all contacts went forth and on their refusal to submit a number of he-coons were rounded up by the State health authorities and corralled in a detention camp.

The monotony of their existence sort of paled on the colored gentlemen and about 2 o'clock Tuesday morning four of the men scaled the walls of the enclosure and beat it for freedom and less sanitary surroundings.

When their escape was noted the word was immediately telephoned in to County Health Registrar McQuown, acquainting him with the status of health conditions there and whereabouts. Field Marshal McQuown immediately went into executive session with himself and summoning his board of strategy composed of Constable Bowman, gave orders to start a systematic man hunt and the "coon hunt" was on.

Sheriff Mack Kuhn of the Third Ward was placed on the scent and despite the fact that he was suffering from a severe cold, followed same unerringly to the hiding place of one of the escapees down below the Fourth Ward. He was promptly arrested and placed in jail, and thereby hangs a tale.

Marshal McQuown and his aide tracked the other three men to Curwensville and from thence to Grampian where they were rounded up and detained until the tentacles of the health authorities could once more be cast about them.

After carefully fumigating and disinfecting themselves—instantly and—the forces of the health department departed last evening after the shades of night had fallen to pick up their prisoners. The health men reached the dead hours of the night, the prisoners secured and transportation by the Ford route to Woodland began, where the cavalcade arrived this morning just twenty-four hours to the minute from the time the smallpox suspects escaped.

The guard has been doubled, a "dead line" established and the victims promised instantaneous death if they ever again so much as look over that fence.

It is said that when the Grampian constable who made the arrest was informed of the charge against the men, he started right in to bury his official robes of office and the Grampian borough council called a special meeting for this evening to determine whether or not it will be necessary to burn the borough hall as a precautionary health measure.

The prisoners in the jail threatened to go on strike and jump their jobs, when they were acquainted with the state of affairs this morning called following the removal of the wear-sick man all hands were put to work fumigating the premises. Malefactor throughout the county have already petitioned District Attorney Arnold demanding that the jail be quarantined against outside and ingress for at least thirty days but no such action is contemplated just yet awhile.

RELIGIOUS WELFARE OF INTERNEED ALIENS

The religious welfare of interned aliens at Fort Oglethorpe, Fort McPherson, Hot Springs, and Fort Douglas, is being cared for by the Committee on Interned Aliens and Prisoners of War, of the General War Time Commission of the churches. Camp pastors who speak German have been obtained for the last three posts, with the approval of the government. They will cooperate with the Army chaplain in charge and report to him. As far the greater number of the men in these camps are Lutherans, the securing of workers has been done largely through the National Lutheran Commission for Soldiers' and Sailors' Welfare.

THE WOMEN SPEAK

By Theodosia Garrison of The Vigilantes

We used to say, in our old days of ease, After a round of foolish revelries, Each one of us a little bored with mirth—"I am so tired," sure of sympathy. Or we complained as housewives, bitterly, Of our increasing duties upon earth. Sisters of mine, it is not so today—We who find daylight all too short to pay Our debt of gratitude. Or great, or less, To any, every task our zeal may find We give our best of hand and heart and mind, And who is there who speaks of weariness?

We said once, "I am tired," now that same Word on our lips would be a word of shame, We cannot hear enough to prove as true To those who uncomplaining, glorious, Fight through the flame of very Hell for us. Lord, of Thy mercy, give us more to do!

Snake Oil

Accomplishing no wonderful thing, I want to thank you for your wonderful oil, states Mrs. C. Gibson, of Woodbury, Ark. "My little girl, very low with diphtheria, I had her two doses of medicine which cost me $20 with no result. I bought 25c bottle of your oil and one application relieved her. She is well. It is the greatest remedy I ever used. Mr. Gibson made this statement before hundreds of people. Mrs. Grace Messer, 234 Whitney St., Hartford, Conn., writes: 'I have used your Anti-septic Oil for neuralgia with great effects. Only thing I have ever had that stopped the pain immediately. Mrs. Williams, Gadsden, Ala., writes: 'I have used your great pain oil for rheumatism, stiff joints, aches, sore throat, and I want to say that this is the greatest remedy I ever tried. It cures reported daily from thousands of grateful users of this wonderful oil. Every bottle guaranteed 25c, and $1.00, or money refunded. At Hoadley's Drug Store.'

If Backachy or Kidneys Bother

Eat less meat, also take glass of Sals before eating breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish aches and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief now or three times during the night. When the kidneys cog you must help them flush it off the body's unclean waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad. Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist for owners of Jad Salt; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This delicious Sals is made from the acid of lemons and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used by generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal action, also to neutralize the acids in the urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salt is inexpensive, stimulates, makes a delicious effervescent lithia water drink which cleans the kidneys clean and active. Drug stores here say they sell lots of Sals to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

MODERN PROBLEMS CLUB MEETING

At a meeting held in the high school building Tuesday evening, the Modern Problems Club was very honored in having G. A. Stewart, Editor of the Progress, the subject of Mr. Stewart's talk was "Russia." He told us first of the vast area of the population. These two factors do not make a nation. It is the spirit which does so. The people of Russia had no respect for their government. Their interests were selfish and selfish.

As a people must keep up but their spirits—we must hope whether the brakes of the game seem against us or not. Russia failed to support the boys at the front. This she failed to do because her people were not willing to make the sacrifices necessary to provide for them.

TEACHING THE MORAL AIMS OF THE WAR

A campaign of education in the moral aims of the war is being conducted all over the United States through the churches and religious organizations. Meetings are being held at important centers that clergy and church workers of all denominations are attending. Speakers of national and international prominence address these gatherings. The object of this campaign is to concentrate attention upon the significance of the war as interpreted by President Wilson in his messages to Congress and to quicken the spirit of America in support of the President's policies in prosecuting the war for democracy, international justice, and a league of nations.

This campaign is undertaken by the Church Peace Union, the League to Enforce Peace with the cooperation of the Federal Council of Churches, and the World Alliance for International Friendship through the Churches.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

THE DAY-FLY.

"Good morning," said the regular fly politely. He was known to the day-fly family as Reg which was short for regular.

"Good-day," said the day-fly. "How long do you expect to live?" asked Reg.

"Several days, perhaps," said the day-fly. "All of your family do just the same. I really can't understand it," said Reg.

"I suppose not," said the day-fly. "That's because you are a regular fly. You do not understand flies of our kind."

"I don't," said Reg. "Sometimes I take a long time getting ready to burst into being a fly," said the day-fly, "but it doesn't matter how long I take over it, once I am a fly I do not care to live."

"How sad," said Reg. "Why not?" "I want to be a fly before I am one," said the day-fly. "Sometimes I hurry more than other times out of my larvae state, but after I am a fly my ambition is satisfied and I take no interest in anything."

"Why are you called a day-fly?" asked Reg. "I am sure many of your family have lived longer than a day. And you said you expected to live several days. Do explain it to me."

"I will," said the day-fly, stretching her wings.

"Pray begin soon, dear Lady Day-Fly," said Reg coaxingly. "For you have such a short time to live."

"Now the day-fly did not seem to feel in the least bit unhappy when Reg said that she had such a short time to live. For it was really her own fault she was going to die so soon, and she was just as nice to Reg as if he hadn't made a speech which would have seemed very dismal to most creatures."

"I suppose we are called day-flies because we live such a short time and a day is a very short time. But they should call us flies-of-several-days which would be much more correct."

"I suppose they haven't the time to say such a lot about such small creatures," said Reg.

"They have a great deal of time," said the day-fly. "I could say it and I haven't so much time. They have days and days and days—not two or three. And they even have years and—oh—terribly long times."

The day-fly trembled at the thought of so many years ahead, and really she couldn't think of years very well for she only understood what days were. She simply knew that years meant days almost without number, so many were there.

"But we shouldn't be called day-flies, for we almost always live several days."

"Haven't you ever wanted to live longer?" asked the regular fly.

"No," said the day-fly. "Will you stop today and have luncheon with me?" asked Reg. He was growing quite hungry. He knew Mrs. Reg would be delighted to have a guest for luncheon.

"Thank you, no," said the day-fly. "I never eat. I don't believe my family ever have, either. We aren't eating flies."

"No wonder you don't live more than several days," said Reg. "You take no food and no nourishment. You cannot help but die. Eat and you will live to be a strong fly like myself."

"I'm too dainty to eat," said the day-fly.

"Nonsense," said Reg. "It's far more fun to eat than to be dainty."

"Perhaps," said the day-fly. "But I really can't change my ways. I thank you kindly for your invitation, but I do not want to eat. I just want a little glimpse of the world and then I do not want to live any more."

"I'm sorry," said Reg. "And I wish you would change your ways, but as you won't, I'm thankful to you for the interesting talk I've had with you. It was good of you to give me so much of your time when you had so little of it."

"You are welcome," said the day-fly. "And now I must be going off. The world is beginning to tire me and I've had enough of it. I hope you'll enjoy luncheon."

"Of all the queer flies," said Reg, "the day-fly takes the prize. Fancy not wanting to eat or live!"

On the Same Principle.

"Mother, what color are my eyes?" asked Clara.

"They are gray, dear."

"Mother, could the lady that makes your gray hair brown, color my eyes?"

STRIPE AND PLAIDS LEAD IN SMART SKIRTINGS

You take a walk on the street. You see women passing. Every time you turn your head, stripes or plaids seem to greet you. In some respects, it would also seem, the bigger the plaid and the wider the stripe, the more you like it. Another point—by no means are they all "loud"—many you have to look at twice to recognize as being in the famous Scotch designs. Women in search of material to make an attractive street and dressy skirt will find these plaids much to their liking.

These skirtings, $2.25 to $3.50 a yard.

THE NEW SILK GINGHAMS AT $1.50 YD.

Some unusually fine values to be found in this group—some are manufacturer's advance Spring designs and which sold at higher costs. Plaids are in striking and harmonious effects; some two-tones.

THE ALWAYS WANTED NAVY BLUE FRENCH SERGE $1.50

Navy blue serge is unquestionably one of the most popular Spring fabrics. This is a splendid quality and 38 inches wide.

Annual Spring Sale of House Dresses For House Cleaning. Priced at 1.50, 1.75, 2.00 up to 3.00

Beginning tomorrow and continuing for the balance of the week, we will feature a special sale of these dresses of wonderful service. All women can be perfectly fitted with these dresses, even the extremely stout and those of irregular proportions. "Styles-for-stouts" and adjustable models make this possible. Greatest of all attractions, however, are the extremely low prices at which these dresses are sold.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—these are the words which describe a woman with a good clear skin. A natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness, assured only by clean, healthy blood.

If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of nerve wrecks, run-downs, brain fags, and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning before breakfast a glass of hot water with a tea spoonful of limestone phosphate in it.

to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds, and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation.

We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of

"YES, MA'AM—THESE DRESS LINENS ARE 95c A YARD"

[The above is what our salesgirl said.]

This is what the customer exclaimed: "REALLY? Well, let me have—let me see—nine yards—for two dresses."

We couldn't help overhearing such a conversation; it seemed so characteristic of daily happenings around the store.

These are dress lines we bought at old prices quite some time ago—and we're creating surprises every day with this price.

White and colors.
